Global Gambling Market

Executive Summary

The gaming industry is a term interchangeably used for gambling industry. The term gaming is more preferred by companies operating within the gambling market. As for them it sounds sort of more legal to be known as a gaming company instead of a gambling company. Gambling is defined as any game or activity in the which a particular player risk his/ her money in the expectation of winning more money.

The global gambling market can be segmented on the basis of product type and platform type. The market can be bifurcated into casinos, lotteries, gaming machines and betting on the basis of product type. On the basis of platform type the market can be sub segmented into landbased and online categories.

The market observed moderate impact due to COVID-19 pandemic. Although, the global gambling market is forecasted to showcase positive growth through the forecast period (2021-2025). The market growth is estimated to supported by various growth drivers such as increasing spending capability, legalization of gambling in countries such as US, rising penetration of smart devices, hike in internet penetration, and overall increase in global population especially within those lying in between the ages of 20-64 years.

The market is also confronted by some challenges such as the negative perceptions surrounding the gambling market and lack of internet connectivity in developing countries. Emergence of bitcoins, growing number of mergers and acquisitions (M&A), use of augmented reality to enhance gaming experience and cloud gaming are some of the major trends existing in the market.
